

Dan Ackerson of XOXO mislead investors into thinking the company had adequate funding until 2003. I would have never invested had this not been stated at a conference call, with numbers to support it. Then, XOXO asks to eliminate all common shareholders, without filing BK, and halts trading; it was fraudulent, in my opinion.